Report on Investments

3rd Quarter, 2008

Economic Review

Past. Third quarter 2008 GDP fell at an annual rate of 0.3% versus a 2.8% growth rate in the second quarter. Final sales to domestic purchasers fell 1.8%, the largest decrease in 17 years, consumer spending plunged 3.1%, the biggest drop in 28 years, while business investment fell 1%. Majority of economist and central bankers have toned down their rhetoric on inflation, the reason being that the dampened global demand had brought down commodity prices, including oil – a key driver of price increases. The housing sector continues to be the weakest link. Home prices declined 16.6% in August versus 15.8% in June (year-over-year). At end of September, housing starts fell 6.3%, to 817,000 units, the lowest level in 25 years. Building permits dropped 8.3%, to 786,000 units, the lowest level since 1981. Unemployment increased from 5.5% at the end of June to 6.1% in September.

The continued economic weaknesses around the globe and fears of a global recession have become the dominant drivers of capital markets. At end of third quarter 2008, bond performance as measured by the Lehman Brothers Aggregate bond index, posted a negative return of -0.49% while U.S equities, as represented by the S&P 500 Index posted -8.37%

Present. In an effort to restore investor confidence and stabilize global financial markets, the Fed and global central banks lowered interest rates and injected capital into the banking system. Presently, there are signals that the numerous plans by governments to ease the credit crisis are taking effect. LIBOR reset down a few basis points across the curve, so we are continuing to see a bit of thaw in money markets. Economic data for the month of September-October is fueling speculation that the U.S economy will continue to deteriorate. Consumer confidence was at 57.6 in October, compared to 70.3 in September. Initial jobless claims during the last week of October were up to 479,000 versus 332,000 over same period last year. These numbers are holding near the highest level in five years. Compared to no change in August (0.0%), consumer spending was down by 0.3% in September. Economist are worried that consumer spending, which accounts for more than 70% of GDP will result in a negative reading in fourth quarter GDP.

Future. As banks and credit creation goes, so goes the economy. Last month the problems in the financial and credit markets increased in scope and magnitude. To curb the crisis, the Fed had used several tools which include easing of monetary policy, capital injections, and liability guarantees for banks. Over time, all the above combinations should help to stabilize the financial sector and ensure that monetary policy finds traction.

The Slope of the U.S treasury yield curve has the single best record as a leading economic indicator. The yield curve has steepened significantly over the past six months, which is similar to what happens in anticipation of an economic recovery. A steepened yield curve should help bank profitability and reduce some of their need to raise capital.

Council Impact. Presently, economists are predicting that the U.S economy has slipped into a recession. Economists are projecting slow economic growth through the end of the second quarter 2009. A slowing economy accompanied by a high degree of uncertainty brought down the stock market after September 30th. There is also some concern that the weakening economy will lead to gapping budget deficits at State and Local governments, thus hurting the credit quality of municipal debt. Historically, munis have had much better credit performance than corporate bonds. Municipal bonds have seen prices plunge and yields soar relative to treasuries. We took advantage of this opportunity and bought three municipal bond issues – Chicago IL G.O, Bexar County TX, and Wisconsin General Revenue bonds, yielding 4.08%, 6.14% and 6.0%, respectively. If market conditions remain at their current state through mid 2009, the Council is likely to incur higher borrowing costs compared to 2008, when it issues debt next year.

Investment Results & Strategy

MCOA—Short Term

3Q08 Results. Total return for this portfolio was above the index by 6 basis points. This portfolio has averaged 34 bps per year more than its benchmark over the past 10 years. This success is due to competitive rates from our money market funds. Both funds - Credit Suisse and Morgan Stanley Institutional Prime funds had higher yields of 2.73% and 2.41% respectively, versus an industry average of 2.37%.

4Q08 Strategy. At end of 3Q2008, money markets were under strain as investors resisted buying short term instruments. In an effort to lift investor confidence, the US Treasury insured public money market funds by authorizing $50 billion in protection. As a result, we will continue to invest in money market funds.

Longer Strategy (12-months). We plan to wait on the sidelines in money market funds until the markets stabilize.

MCOA—Long Term

3Q08 Results. Total return was above the benchmark index by 32 basis points due to additional gains from trading the long treasury bond and some realized gains from a Federal Home Loan agency bond that was called at par at lower interest rate levels.

4Q08 Strategy. The relative attractiveness of municipal bonds compared to treasuries is at historically high levels. We may swap into a couple of more taxable munis as opportunity arises.

Longer Strategy (12-months). Lengthen duration as market yields rise.

EFPMs – Hedging Accounts

During third quarter 2008, diesel and natural gas contracts (combined) generated $2,455,168 in net realized gains and $16,328,000 in unrealized losses. Fuel costs, net of hedging gains/losses, are within budget expectations.

MCOA--Margin Account

The margin account supports both the diesel fuel and natural gas hedging programs; it includes cash, a money market balance, and some U.S. Treasury securities.

Low Activity Portfolios

The MCOA—Tax Exempt, and the HUD Account, portfolios receive limited activity. Money in the tax-exempt account helps reduce our arbitrage liability. The HUD account is kept liquid for operating purposes.

OPEB

3Q08 Results. Our OPEB portfolio is heavily invested in equities (asset allocation at 100% S&P 500 since beginning of 2008). At end of 3Q2008 both the S&P 500 Index and our OPEB portfolio posted negative returns of -8.37% and -8.13% respectively. For 3Q2008, the portfolio had $5.7 million of unrealized losses.

4Q08 Strategy. During the third quarter, equity markets tumbled as investors lowered their expectations for future global earnings growth. The stock market has cheapened and we believe it is a good time to buy equities. Maintain allocation at 100% equities. December's OPEB contribution was accelerated to November in order to take advantage of depressed equity prices.

Longer Strategy (12-months). Continue with our current asset allocation of 100% equities with minor adjustments when markets become historically expensive.
