Report on Investments

Fourth Quarter, 2011

Economic Review

Past. The U.S. economy closed year 2011 on a positive note. During the fourth quarter, Gross domestic product (GDP) increased at an annualized rate of 3.0% (vs. 1.8% in the third quarter), this brought the 2011 growth to 1.7%, a decline from 3.0% in 2010. The quarterly improvement was mostly broad based, with data on consumer spending, manufacturing, housing and employment all showing meaningful gains; part of the gain was attributable to volatile inventory changes. The monthly employment reports show that job gains averaged 137,000 in 2011, almost double the monthly gain in 2010. For all of 2011, employers added 1.6 million workers, the most since 2006. Jobless claims dropped below the key 400,000 level and moved to a three year low in December. The four-week moving average, which is less volatile, dropped to 375,000 in the last week of December. The unemployment rate fell from 9.1% in September to 8.5% in December. Manufacturing and the service sectors improved modestly. The Institute of Supply Management (ISM) manufacturing index increased from 51.6 in September to 53.9 in December. The index remained above 50 each month in 2011. Growth within the service sector remained flat during the fourth quarter, with the ISM non-manufacturing index remaining unchanged from 53.0 in September to 52.6 in December. Readings in the low 50s continue to be consistent with the moderate economic growth environment. Housing activity remained at depressed levels during the quarter. Housing sales, starts and permits remained lower and distressed sales continue to make almost a third of total sales.

Financial markets improved but continued to experience heightened volatility fueled by the European sovereign debt crisis. The U.S market, as measured by the S&P 500 Index returned 11.8% during the fourth quarter, bringing the full year performance to a modest 2.1% (vs. 15.1% in 2010). The broad fixed income market, as measured by the Barclays Capital Aggregate Index posted a quarterly total return of 1.12%, and is up 7.84 % for all of 2011.

Present. Despite the fact that headlines have been dominated by the Eurozone sovereign debt crisis, U.S economic data flow continues to reflect an economy that is growing at a moderate pace. Retail sales, which gauge consumer spending behavior, rose 1.1% in February versus 0.6% in January. Excluding auto, retail sales beat expectations and rose 0.9% versus expectations for an increase of 0.7%. Personal income rose 0.3% in January versus 0.5% in December, while personal spending increased 0.2% in January versus 0.0% in December. Consumer confidence improved in February, the number came in at 70.8 vs. 61.5 in January. According to the report, consumers are more optimistic about the short term outlook of the economy. The labor market is also showing strength. For the week ended March 8th, weekly jobless claims rose by 8,000 to 362,000 from a prior number of 354,000. On a trend basis, the four-week moving average fell to 355,000 from 366,000. This is the lowest it's been since March 2008. Historically, improvements in claims precede actual advances in hiring. Some indicators are starting to point to moderate growth in the housing sector.

Future. The Federal Reserve continues to note headwinds facing stronger economic growth. The Fed remains disappointed with the slow recovery in unemployment. They are concerned that "strains in global financial markets continue to pose significant downside risk to the economic outlook". At its January 25th meeting, the Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) said economic conditions may warrant exceptionally low interest rate levels in the policy rate "at least through late 2014".

Going forward, we expect overall bond yields to remain relatively low, consistent with the Fed keeping rates exceptionally low through late 2014, continuation of Operation Twist, moderate economic growth and relatively contained inflation expectations.

Council Impact. During the fourth quarter municipal bonds delivered strong returns, outperforming most other spread sectors. Our long term portfolio however, underperformed its benchmark due to our cash and cash equivalent holdings (28% of portfolio). As a result, we experienced a cash drag. Also, several of our municipal and agency bonds were called away before maturity. For all called bonds, we reinvested proceeds in a government money market fund, which is currently yielding 0.0%. Investment opportunities in the municipal market remain limited. A cautionary environment and the absence of the Build America program have impacted supply, while demand has remained relatively high. According to a recent study by The Bond Buyer's journal, long term municipal bond volume fell by 32% in 2011 versus 2010. (A total of $294.7 billion in 1,556 issues in 2010 compared to $433.2 billion in 13,800 issues in 2010).

On a comparative basis (2011 vs. 2010), the Minnesota AAA G.O yield curve has dropped quite a bit along all segments of the curve. This low yield environment is viewed as an opportunity for the Council to refund some of its outstanding bonds and notes. Recently, the Council engaged its financial advisor and requested a thorough review of all potential refunding candidates.

Given the low absolute level of yields, we expect municipalities to become somewhat more active in the market in 2012 in order to fund capital needs and refund previous outstanding bonds for savings; however, issuance continues to be constrained by financial stress and low economic activity in some communities.

Investment Results & Strategy

MCOA—Short-Term

4Q11 Results: Total return for this portfolio was above the index by 2 basis points. This portfolio has averaged 31 bps per year more than its benchmark over the past 13 years. For the quarter, 65% of our cash was invested in a government fund yielding 0.0%. Last year, we switched from a prime money market fund to a government fund due to ongoing concerns that prime money market funds had significant exposures to European banks. A few weeks ago, ratings agencies – Moody’s and S&P placed many European and global banks on watch for downgrades. In the U.S, the P-1 short-term rating of Bank of America and Citibank are on watch for downgrade.

1Q12 Strategy: The Fed continues to maintain short-term rates near zero. This provides us with limited income opportunities in this portfolio. We need to continue to stay extra liquid in order to fund our liabilities, e.g., debt service payments and various capital improvement projects including CCLRT.

Longer Strategy (12-months): We remain committed to high levels of liquidity within the next 9-12 months. However, we may extend duration slightly to pick up incremental yield. We will continue to invest in separately owned high quality commercial paper, government money market funds and short maturing high quality municipal bonds. As the Euro situation stabilizes, we'll move back to prime money market funds.

MCOA—Long-Term

4Q11 Results: Total return of 0.48% was below the Merrill Lynch Agency Master index by 12 basis points. The portfolio's short relative duration (2.48 vs. the benchmark at 3.56) hampered performance. Due to the ongoing European debt crises, municipal bond prices rose as U.S. Treasury prices rose due to flight-to-quality trades and yields fell. Due to high Council needs for cash, about 28% of the long term portfolio is invested in cash and cash equivalents which caused a drag on total return during the quarter.

1Q12 Strategy: We will maintain our diligence from a credit perspective and look for taxable municipal issues in a very cautious and selective manner. Depending on Council's cash needs, we will continue to hold cash in the portfolio. Cash will be utilized to purchase shorter maturities to take advantage of any interest rate increases. We may also purchase some intermediate to long term agency and municipal bonds to enhance portfolio income. Government-backed mortgage securities may also be purchased.

Longer Strategy (12-months): Deploy cash into callable agencies, mortgage securities, munis and possibly some commercial paper. In our view, high to medium-quality municipal credit tiers continue to offer compelling valuations relative to Treasuries, as measured by the ratios of quality municipal yields to Treasury yields.

EFPMs – Hedging Accounts

The energy forward pricing mechanisms (EFPMs) program manages the risk of swings in the cost of diesel fuel consumed by Metro Transit and Metro Mobility, and natural gas consumed by Environmental Services and Metro Transit. The program continues to provide a high degree of budget certainty for very volatile commodity prices. In 2011, diesel futures contracts generated $5.9 million in net realized gains which were offset by a comparable rise in the price of fuel purchased. During the year, about $2.1 million in net unrealized gains occurred.

MCOA--Margin Account

The margin account supports both the diesel fuel and natural gas hedging programs; it includes cash, a money market balance, and a U.S. agency security.

Low Activity Portfolios

The HUD portfolio received limited activity. The HUD account is kept liquid for operating purposes.

OPEB

4Q11 Results: Our OPEB portfolio is currently 100% invested in equities. At the end of fourth quarter 2011, the S&P 500 index and our OPEB portfolio posted returns of 11.8% and 11.7%, respectively. For the quarter, the portfolio incurred $0.5 million of unrealized gains.

1Q12 Strategy: Corporate earnings growth remains solid due to slowly improving business fundamentals. Hence, we continue to hold a positive long-term view toward equities.

Longer Strategy (12-months): Continue allocating to equities with minor adjustments when markets become historically expensive.
